

Standalone Document With Other Items

Last updated: May 28, 2024

If the transaction line item on standalone transactions is of type specified in the Other Item Type option in SMT Configuration, it will be processed with this route. These items do not have COGS and therefore are not expected to reach final margin value.